County Show Exhibitors Bring Home The Ribbons

Lancaster Countains prov ed their right to claim the title Garden Spot for their home base this week as they carried off a goodly portion of the blue and some of the purple rosettes in the hotly contested judging events at the state farm show this week.

Grand championship awards in the livestock divisions went to Ralph Edwin Harnish, Christiana R1, for his Ayrshire Heifer and to Glenn Foreman, Manheim R4, for his Angus steer. Masonic Homes Farms showed the Garnd Champion Ayrshire Bull. Reserve awards were picked up by Fred Hess of Bareville R1 with his fat Hampshire Lamb, and C. Warren Leininger, Denver, showed his junior spring spotted Poland China Gilt to the reserve spot in that breed.

The only exhibitor of breeding sheep from the county, Mrs. Milton Morgen, of 1916 New Holland Pike, won red ribbons with her young Suffolk ram and ewe and a blue ribbon with her pen of three lambs.

In the crops division, Lancaster county exhibitors virtually made a clean sweep of the tobacco judging. Paul Trimble, Quarryville R1, took first place for the second consecutive year, in the 4-H corn competition, while David M. Landis took first

County Hatchery Owner Addresses State Session

The problem of poultry raisers lies in surplus production, Martin Musser, Mt. Joy poultryman, said at the 1960 Pennsylvania Farm Show held this week at Harrisburg.

There need only be a few percentage points of surplus to demoralize the market, he said. For every one percent of surplus, there is a drop of several percent in price.

Congress' Agenda

Congress settled down this week to a scheduled six-months session that, in addition to partisan political debate, includes three major issues.

Congressional leaders we have talked with list those issues as: (1) foreign policy, (2) farm programs, and (3) economic policies. The three could be lumped under the general heading of "peace and prosperity"

Add to those, as secondary issues, debate over civil rights, federal aid to education, tax revision, changes in social security legislation, and the federal aid highway program.

Nobody in Washington will be forgetting that this is a presidential election year in which all Representatives and one-third of the Senators will either be running for re-election or voluntarily retiring

Further complicating the Washington situation is the fact that, as in 5 of the past 6 years, Democrats have a large majority in Congress, while Republicans are in charge of the Administrative branch of government.

Peace and Aid

There is more political unity on foreign policy than any of the other important issues before Congress. There is solid backing for President Eisenhower in his Summit Conference scheduled for late spring in Paris.

There are differences, however, over foreign aid, both econoimc and military. Our European allies are the most prosperous since before World War II and there is strong demand in Congress that they share a larger part of the Free World defense costs.

The President wants, and likely will get, some kind of a "food for peace" program that will call for increased shipments of food to such under-developed countries as India at a cost of somewhere near $3 billion.

Prosperity

There are sharper political differences over farm programs and such econimic issues as inflation and management-labor disputes Success of the Administration's anti-inflation program depends on settlement of strikes without substantial wage increases.

A substantial number of congressmen favor "get-tough" legislation to prevent protracted strikes in important industries, such as steel and transportation. Such legislation isn't likely, however in an election year.

Most troublesome of all is the problem of developing a farm program which would (1) reduce farm aid costs, (2) halt the build-up of surpluses, and (3) reverse the sharp decline in farm income.

The division over farm issues is almost strictly along party lines. The President vetoed a Democratic farm bill last year, and Congress flatly refused to consider an Administration farm program that Mr Eisenhower has again asked for this year.

Are We Free?

Lesson for January 17, 1960

HEADLINE writing is tricky business. You have only so much room, and so cannot always say clearly what you mean. That "Are We Free?" up there in the headline could mean some things it doesn't. The question does not mean, Are Americans free? or, Are readers of this column free? The question is about Christians. Are we free?

Dr. Foreman

That still is not clear enough. Free from what? Christians are certainly free from terror in the presence of God. We are free from the burden of guilt. We are free (or have a right to be) from anxiety and worry, and especially from the fear of death. But that is not the question we mean. To get down to brass tacks, our question is this: Is a Christian free from the law of God, especially from God's law as made known to us in the Ten Commandments?

The Question Is An Old One

The first Christians held their first great convention or conference to decide on this question. The way the problem came up with them was this: The first Christian churches, you remember, were made up almost exclusively of Jews. They were brought up on their Scriptures, our Old Testament, and they took it seriously as the Word of God. They found in it not a mere Ten Commandments, but at least Six Hundred Thirteen Commandments. It may have been a chore to try to abide by all these laws spread out over pages and pages of Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy. But there the laws were, and conscientious ex-Jews who became Christians brought these laws right along with them.

Now when Paul and Barnabas went out on their tours, the churches they were made up, for the of non-Jews, and mo people knew nothing about the Old Testame

The Jerusalem Chri sending messengers to Gentile Christian gro them they really were tians at all, they hadn't because they hadn't k of God in every detail Christians said, Oh, but from the law. The Je tians said, No man is ev the law. So there at la a great church meetin who was right. There debate, and finally an Scholars do not fully the terms of the agree was sent out as a de churches. But one thi the decision went again salem church. The que was: What do you have a Christian? What do do to be saved? The church had been saying to do a great deal to be have to be an avowed the Law before God wi sider saving you. But had a higher view E was this: Every one w is saved by grace—th free act of God's loving

Free From Slavery; Fr

The question was s in that great Council coming up, and Paul h to the Romans and to th explaining it all over comes up in our tim ways. What do I have God will come to my that is what "save" me are two common wro One is that every sing Old Testament is bind Christian. It is keeping that saves us, really I saves us provided w enough. The other wr is that God saves us and then since he has can go do as we plea possibly go wrong if w saved The right answ this: God saves us b good, not because we a ing been saved, keepin then a joyous token itude Freed from sla set free to serve. God never be earned, it taken—by faith.

Let's Bake Pies

by Mrs. Richard C. Spence

Now is the time to tempt cookie-weary appetites with some good home-made pies. One of the most favored of the pastry desserts is the Lemon Meringue Pie. We have a recipe for a double Lemon Pie Filling for two 9-inch pies with a meringue topping.

Stir ½ cup of hot mixture gradually into beaten egg yolks; stir this back into hot mixture Cook for 4 to 5 minutes at low heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat Add lemon juice, grated peel and butter. Cool slightly. Pour into two cool baked pie shells (9-inch). Top with meringue recipe below.

TREATED SHELLED NUTS STAY FRESH, FLAVORFUL

Shelled nuts usually keep better if they are cool, dark and fairly dry. But grocer's shelves are uscally well lighted.

Shelled nuts packaged in plastic bags have been under study recently to see if they can keep nuts fresh longer. Plastic makes a good package because it's light weight, fairly sturdy and handy for viewing the contents. Special plastics even keep air out but light does affect the nuts Vacuum packing in plastic isn't practical because it pulls tightly around the nuts and makes an un-

Packing in nitrogen or treating the nuts with an antioxidant both gives good results. Nuts treated with antioxidants will take nearly three months of shelf life while untreated nuts stay fresh less than a month Those packed in nitrogen may stay salable even longer. Check packages of shelled nuts when you buy them to see if they have been treated with an antioxidant.

Give nuts the cool dark treatment when you get them home. Pecans tested kept for over a year at refrigerator temperatures

RED ROSE®
POULTRY FEEDS
. . . feed power behind the nest!

HOW GOOD IS THE BEST FEED?

Scientists can give you an opinion — but only a chicken can give you the right answer. At the Red Rose Research Center and Experimental Farms chickens raised under average farm conditions, feed tests, feeding programs, and management practices answer that question—and prove that Red Rose Feeds are outstanding in effective quality among poultry feeds.

A poultry feed must prove its profit making ability in terms of meat and eggs and their dollar and cents value. It must be good enough to develop a chicken's full egg laying potential — and good enough to meet the nutritional requirements of layers under the strain of heavy laying. RED ROSE POULTRY FEEDS are that kind of feed. They contain all essential nutrients, minerals and antibiotics in properly balanced amounts, and produce the results you want at a profit, with greater efficiency.

Start now to feed the Red Rose way.

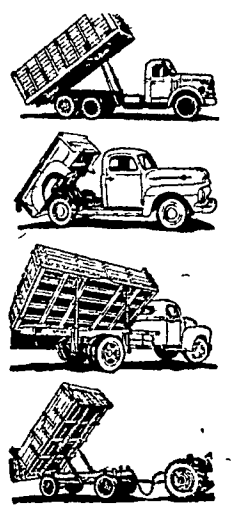
HARSH HYDRAULIC HOISTS



The 32 available models come to you with a wide range of lifting capacities ranging from 3½ to 20 tons for your truck, pickup, or trailer. The smooth, trouble-free action of a HARSH HOIST has a fast lifting time of from 12 to 160 seconds, which allows more time for actual hauling.

These hoists come to you at an average cost of only 16¢ a day as compared to the $10-$15 a day you now spend to manually unload your truck.

To design and build a light-weight, low-costing truck hoist suitable for all types of farm use, priced within the average farmer's budget was the aim of "Bud" Harsh when HYDRAULICS UNLIMITED MFG. CO. began operations. This hoist was built and is now in use throughout the nation.

The HARSH HYDRAULIC HOIST averages only $328.52 (including Federal excise tax) and maintains a low taxable weight which averages 273 lbs. These economical hoists are built for either back or side dumping, depending upon your need.

Save costly time and eliminate back-breaking labor by unloading with a HARSH HYDRAULIC HOIST engineered for economical, speedy, and durable farm use.

cessful Lancaster county farmer and director of the Un cessful Lancaster county farmer and director of the Union Nat'l Bank, addressed the Penna Poultry Association. He said "there isno use kidding ourselves about the future." Farm prices probably are not going to average much better than between 75 and 80 per cent of parity for 1960, he added.

"If the situation during the years 1960 to 1965 parallel the recent past in over-all economy, there probably will be continued surplus of stocks and a continued imbalance between production and consumption."

He anticipates integration in the poultry business will continue but points out that it is up to the poultrymen themselves to whether it will be private firms, farmers cooperatives or big farmers who will do the job.

However, he doubts that egg production will move to a few intensely developed areas, as has happened with broilers. The poultry farm, as it is known in Lancaster county, will continue to be an important factor in the poultry industry, even though the size of the poultry unit may be larger in the future than it has been in the past.

Musser concluded that the solution to the problem of the farm surplus rests with gradual reduction in the am ount of support for farm crops during the next few years
